

UNDER MY OWN POWER

Not sure, but I do feel as if I am becoming the keeper of "old sayings". One popped into my brainium cranium today, "Under my own steam". I was lifting my ever heavier torso girth up from a kneeling position. Anyone over 50 will tell you that a thought process always occurs when you prepare to go down on your knees. The first thought is__ 'Will I be able to get back up?' The second thought is to survey your surroundings for anything nearby that might support your gargantuity, should the need arise. Finally, a brief contemplation as to who else is in the house that you might cry out to, lest options 1 & 2 fail.

So, today, I succeeded in getting my fat ass perpendicular to the floor from a kneeling position * under my own steam. I have never thrown craps before, but I'm aware that lady luck blew on my dice today. I'm never quite sure about tomorrow.
